BANKERS' MEETING. A meeting of the bankers of the city of Wash was held yesterday afternoon in the directors' room of the National Metropolitan Bank to take some united action to publicly mark the respect and affectionate remembrance entertained by the bankers of the city of Washington for the late Samuel Norment, president of the Central National Bank The meeting was called to order by E. Kurtz John on, esq. William R. Riley, esq., president of the West End National Bank, was elected chairman, and James L. Norris, esq., vice president of the National Bank of Washington, secretary. Remarks were made by a number of the gentlemen present touching upon he prominent qualities which marked Mr. Norment's successful business career, and testifying to the high steem and regard in which he was held.

The chairman then appointed a committee ing of James L. Norris, esq., vice president of the National Bank of Washington; Charles S. Bradley, esq. ashier of the National Bank of the Republic, and seorge H. B. White, esq., cashier of the National Metropolitan Bank, to draw up and present appropriate resolutions, expressive of the feelings animating those present. The committee submitted the following preamble and resolutions, which were adopted:

Whereas in the mysterious course of Providence our friend and associate, Mr. Samuel Norment, has been summoned by death from the scene of his earthly labors, leaving another breach in the wide circle of our nutual activity : and Whereas it is eminently fitting that we should give ome suitable expression of our grief at his decease and ur appreciation of his virtue; therefore 1. Be it resolved, That in this affliction we mourn the loss of a true friend and an upright Christian genleman, whose kindness of heart and genial disposition endeared him to all, and whose tried integrity commanded the respect of the entire community in which he lived. His stainless character in all the relations of life, his cherry and success in business, his varied experience, his public spirit, his charitable disvaried experience, his public spirit, his charitable disffectionate remembrance. 2. Be it resolved. That to mark our deep sympathy with his bereaved family a copy of the action of this meeting be transmitted to them and that a copy be also furnished to the public press.

Among those present were the following gentlemen: Mr. George H. B. White, cashier of the National Metropolitan Bank. Mr. Charles S. Bradley, cashier of the National Bank of the Republic. Mr. James L. Norris, vice president of the National

We are so often asked the question what is the actual difference between cash and credit prices on Lumber.

There is no fixed rule or percentage, but you would be surprised if you really knew how much lower cash buyers get their Lumber than those (of splendid credit) who get three and six months time. Smart, brainy men save a hundred dollars or more in bills of $600 and over by buying of us for spot cash. LIBBEY, BITTINGER & MILLER, Building Materia offices of Judge Edmund Waddill, lately representing the Richmond district.

A couple of weeks ago Judge Waddill drove up to Mr. Langston's residence near Howard University and for two hours the politicians talked pence. Judge Waddill, as a Star reporter is informed, made no concealment of the fact that he came from Gen. Mahone with an olive branch on his person, and that there must be peace at almost any terms. He said that the general was willing to meet Langston half way at least, and that he wanted to talk with his colored brother. Mr. Langston agreed without hesitation to go to see his old injured man, but who was eager to make a dig-nified compromise. With this understanding Judge Waddill took

CHANGE OF CHIEF CLERK.—Upon the expiration of the thirty days' leave granted Mr. Edson F. Brace by Secretary Tracy, which will occur tomorrow, his resignation as chief clerk of the bureau of equipment, Navy Department, will be accepted and Mr. George S. Sproston, who has been acting as chief clerk in the meantime, will be formally designated.

LIEUT. CASEY'S SLAYERS.—The moderative includes the sasertion the platform of his compromise:

"I shall join you as a republican, and as such I shall do my best to promote the interests of the party. I shall work for you and for your success just as long as you help me. But remember! this is to continue just so long as you treat me as a republican.

"The moment you oppose me in the least because my hair curls, or because I am blask, I shall turn around and fight you to the bitter end. I shall fight any republican on the color line, but when that is obliterated I can fight with him."

Mahone replied that he appreciated the standard and that henceforth.

alleged conflict of authority at Sioux Falls, S.

D., between the army and state judicial officers growing out of the demand of the marshal for the surrender of the two Indians who are held by the army officers as the slayers of Lieut. Casey. The view of the matter taken at the department is that no trouble will ensue. As the control of the state judiciary has jurisdiction. The Indians could not be held as prisoners of war, and if the army officers have declined to surrender them to the marshal it is only because they wish to make sure that the culprits are turned over to the proper custodians.

All three of the parties to this compromise are now down in Virginia putting the first nails into the new fence that is to corrall the republican voters of the state. Judge Waddill left the city almost at once after the conference and Mr. Langston took the train this morning. The two latter are now at Petersburg.

It is probable that Langston will proceed with the organization of his faction at once after the conference and Mr. Langston took the train this morning. The two latter are now at Petersburg.
